Nick is a dedicated and passionate filmmaker eager to expand his knowledge base and experience, and learn off of established Cinematographers while forging his own path within the Australian film industry. He has studied Cinematography at a Masters level at university under Helen Carter and been Mentored by Ernie Clark ACS soon after completing his studies.

A member of the ACS, he sat on the board briefly, before taking a step back from those responsibilities, and the rigours of filmmaking to raise his daughter as a single dad. Though he soon found that he could not stay away from film. He has most recently taken on Writing and Directing for the Screen in an effort to generate his own projects with a view to get behind the camera as often as possible. His latest run of short-films have been entirely produced and funded off of his own back under the banner of Remember The Name Pictures. And in 2016, as his daughter begun school, he took steps to re-enter the film industry as a Camera Assistant and Cinematographer.
